

L'Aventure Estate Rosé 2010

70% Syrah, 30% Cabernet Sauvignon

Pristine pink-coral in color. Fresh rhubarb-strawberry preserves and melon notes predominate, with spring wildflower aromas as accents. The initial impact is soft in the mouth, as delicate raspberry and blueberry flavors lead to crispness suggestive of apricot, peach and grapefruit.

Stephan Ridge Estate 2010

70% Syrah, 20% Cabernet Sauvignon, 10% Petit Verdot

Garnet color with bright red tints, aromas of raspberry and dried violets and a touch of pastis candies are forward. The attack is soft, with delicious blueberry and red fruit flavors arcing long and finishing evenly. Firmness in the middle palate and bright fruit combine to make for a charming and refreshing wine for patio and barbecue time.

L'Aventure Optimus 2009

50% Syrah, 33% Cabernet Sauvignon, 17% Petit Verdot

Deep ruby-pomegranate in color, the wine exhibits aromas of blueberry, blackberry, and cassis, with underpinnings of graphite and tea leaf. Dense flavors of cola nut, blackberry, and currant are enveloped by tobacco and tea leaf. Cocoa and coffee are hiding above a long finish of vanilla and spice.

L'Aventure Côte à Côte 2009

42% Grenache, 33% Syrah, 25% Mourvedre

A dark ruby hue glistens in the glass. Rich notes of fresh plum, blueberry, and cherry are repeated and buoyed in the mouth by leather and rich, soft, elegant, polished tannins. Cocoa, acacia and the essence of garrigue (the scents of the herbaceous and woody plants particular to the French countryside in Provence) labor long through the spicy finish.

L'Aventure Estate Cuvée 2009

42% Syrah, 42% Cabernet, 16% Petit Verdot

Ebony at its center, with a dark purple robe, this wine is deep in every respect. Intense aromas of cola, licorice and wild blackberry set the stage. Cassis is there, as are black cherry and leather, as well as our omnipresent blueberry. The attack is magnificent, tremendously silky and opulent in texture. The palate revels in fruit as the finish is shaped by graphite, acacia and cardamom. This wine is perfectly balanced and promises wonderful aging potential in years to come.
